ASIS UK unveils event for young security professionals

ASIS UK has launched Security is You(th), an initiative designed to engage students and professionals in the security industry through a real-world hackathon challenge. The company highlights that with the growing need for fresh talent in the security sector, this initiative aims to bridge the gap between education and industry by providing participants with hands-on experience, mentorship and networking opportunities.

The Security is You(th) Hackathon will bring together students and young professionals in June to tackle a real-world security scenario, testing their problem-solving skills.

Participants will collaborate in teams, develop strategic solutions and present their findings to a panel of top industry experts.

Farah Benis, Committee Lead, Security is You(th) commented: "Security is You(th) is more than just a competition – it's a pipeline for the next generation of security professionals to gain real-world experience and industry connections.

"We're excited to provide a hands-on opportunity for young people to apply their skills and grow in this evolving field."

Access Security Solutions enhances partnership

Access Security Solutions has strengthened its partnership with Farfisa Intercoms to offer high-quality door entry and access control solutions in the UK.

Access Security Solutions (Access Security) is known for delivering more than just products—they offer security solutions with a personal touch.

Based in Northampton, the company has become a trusted name in the UK security industry, specialising in door entry and access control systems for projects of all sizes and complexities.

With over 50 years of experience in door entry systems, 37 of which include Farfisa, Access Security leads the UK market in the supply and support of Farfisa Intercoms.

As the exclusive UK distributor, the company works closely with Farfisa to offer high-quality solutions that meet the specific needs of UK installers and specifiers.

Built on trust, shared values, and a strong bond of friendship, this ongoing collaboration enables Access Security to provide customised solutions while maintaining an unwavering commitment to quality, long after installation.

This shared focus on innovation and collaboration was showcased at recent events, such as the open day and training session hosted at Access Security's showroom.

The event allowed Farfisa representatives to engage with UK installers, demonstrate new products and gather valuable feedback.

Solutions like the Duo Bus Two Wire Technology and IP Evo System were particularly well-received for their flexibility, ease of use, and versatility.

Fabrizio Cervigni, Sales Manager at Farfisa Intercoms, expressed his appreciation after the event: "I'd like to thank Jim and his team for organising such a successful event. It's a great opportunity to connect with our UK customers, understand their needs, and provide targeted product support. We look forward to returning for The Security Event in April."

Jim Foster, Managing Director at Access Security, added: "We're excited to continue building on our strong partnership with Farfisa. Their innovative products, paired with our dedicated service, give us the confidence that we'll continue leading the industry."

This ongoing collaboration keeps both companies at the forefront of security, pushing innovation and excellence at every step of the customer experience.
